DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 27-54 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. In claim 27, the new language “selecting a set of orthodontic components for use in an orthodontic treatment resembling and having same properties as said virtual set”, and in claim 50, “resembling and having same properties as said virtual set” is not contained or disclosed in the present application, nor in the incorporated by reference patent 6,739,869. While the ‘869 patent teaches selecting virtual component that match the real life components, it does not appear to teach selecting orthodontic components that resemble the virtual components. Also, the specific language used is not used in either disclosure. This is a new matter rejection.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claim 36 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. In line 1, “said predicting” lacks proper antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 27-54 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sachdeva et al (6350120) in view of Wu et al (5338198). Sachdeva shows a method using a computer to select virtual components, column 6, lines 25-35, providing a three dimensional virtual image model, see step 60 in Fig. 4, associating the virtual components with the model, step 64, computing the manner of movement of the teeth, step 74 and column 6, lines 36-59, selecting a component for use, column 7, lines 1-6 and using similar brackets in treatment, column 7, lines 58-67. Sachdeva does not show a model being manipulable so as to allow viewing from a desired direction. Wu teaches electronic models that can be viewed from any perspective, column 1, lines 20-25. It would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify Doyle to include the function of allowing the models to be viewed from different directions as shown by Wu in order to make use of a well known computer graphics tool for computer graphics design. To store rules in a data base and the type of data base used are obvious matters of choice in the use of known storage types to the skilled artisan. To include extracted or restored teeth in the calculations is well known in modeling orthodontic treatment.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 27-54 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-18 of U.S. Patent No. 6,739,869. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because to use virtual brackets that represent actual brackets is an obvious matters of choice to one of ordinary skill in the art.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed March 23, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. It is noted that essential material may not be incorporated by reference to patents or applications published by foreign countries or a regional patent office or non-patent publications or foreign applications. The filing date of the Sachdeva reference is November 30, 1999, which is proper prior art for the disclosed invention in the incorporated by reference '869 patent.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
